Registration Form — ERCP Bootcamp for the GI Team
Friday and Saturday, November 22–23, 2019

THREE WAYS TO PARTICIPATE!

1. In person. Practitioners may register individually for the on-site course. However, with a focus on team-based healthcare delivery, it is recommended that multiple members of the healthcare team attend the course together to maximize the experience.

2. Simulcast. The didactic portion of the course will be streamed live on Friday, November 22 from 4:00 PM-7:00 PM Central time and Saturday, November 23 from 8:00 AM-Noon. The hands-on portion will be streamed live on Saturday, November 23 from 12:00 PM-2:30 PM. Participants who choose to stream will be provided with instructions on how to log into GoToWebinar one week prior to the course date.

3. On-Demand. The recorded version of the didactic course will be available for purchase approximately two weeks after the live event. Visit learn.asge.org for more information.

COURSE DESCRIPTION
A strong physician-nurse team is essential to optimize patient care. This course offers a unique environment that emphasizes team dynamics. There is a focus on the distinct technical roles of physicians and assistants (RN or GI technician), who must work hand-in-hand to achieve the highest success for ERCP procedures. Pancreaticobiliary endoscopy teams of physicians, nurses, technologists, and associates are encouraged to attend the course together.

The course features didactic and hands-on sessions. The didactic portion will highlight established approaches and new techniques related to ERCP practice. Lectures will use a case-based approach that incorporates videos and images. Q&A sessions allow ample time for attendee-faculty interaction.

Hands-on sessions are led by physician and nurse faculty and will emphasize proper use of technologies and techniques as they relate to physicians, nurses, and assistants. Teamwork will be highlighted, as success requires not only individual technical proficiency, but also deliberate and calm communication between physician and assistant. Participants will gain valuable pointers to optimize technique and team interaction, as procedural success is inherently linked to physician understanding and insight into the assistant’s role and vice-versa.

It is suggested that multiple members of the ERCP team attend the course together to enhance the value of the learning experience.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES
Upon completion of this educational activity, participants will be able to:
• Describe proper indications for ERCP and use of new ERCP-related technologies and techniques
• Demonstrate basic ERCP teamwork skills
• Utilize appropriate endoscopic therapy utilizing the latest ERCP treatment paradigms, technologies, and procedural techniques
• Apply coordinated team approaches to clinical and technical problem solving related to ERCP
• Describe how to avoid, minimize, and/or manage ERCP-related adverse events

INTENDED AUDIENCE
Practicing gastrointestinal endoscopists and nurses, as well as other members of the healthcare team who are interested in ERCP techniques and technologies.
