COURSE DESCRIPTION

This highly popular course was developed by ASGE to educate physicians and non-physician staff of endoscopy units on how to translate quality and safety concepts into everyday practice. Through a mixture of didactic lecture and interactive sessions taught by leading experts in the field, participants of the course will advance their knowledge of endoscopy unit quality and safety, as well as discuss emerging trends and evidence. They will also be prepared to apply for the ASGE Endoscopy Unit Recognition Program or be able to renew their current participation.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

Upon completion of this educational activity, participants will be able to:

- Identify ways to define and measure quality in endoscopy
- Describe techniques to make endoscopy more efficient while maintaining safety
- Describe methods to improve patient satisfaction in endoscopy, including improved doctor-patient communication
- Recognize the potential sources of infection from contact with various body fluids, their transmissibility during gastrointestinal endoscopy, and their susceptibility to potential disinfectants
- Specify measures for improving unit quality, including training and credentialing for new procedures, quality assurance programs, sedation and monitoring, and unit accreditation and re-accreditation

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Practicing gastrointestinal endoscopists and surgeons, medical directors, nurse managers, unit managers and allied professionals interested in advancing their knowledge in endoscopy unit quality and safety.

Units interested in applying for the ASGE Endoscopy Unit Recognition Program (EURP) or renewing their ASGE EURP Certificate are encouraged to send both a physician and a non-physician manager to the course. Program eligibility criteria require completion of this course by at least one unit representative in person within one year prior to program application for newly applying units and by at least one unit representative via any modality within one year prior to recognition expiration for renewing units.
