AGENDA

WHY YOU SHOULD PARTICIPATE

The ASGE Masterclass on EUS is a specialized course for gastroenterologists and others who use EUS in their practice, and seek a detailed overview of current EUS practices and standards incorporated in EUS centers across the United States.

EUS is performed for various patient indications, and with the evolution in technology, EUS has taken a much greater therapeutic role.

Participants will gain first-hand knowledge from case featuring various patient scenarios where EUS was incorporated as part of the evaluation process.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

An extensive array of clinical tips will be discussed, including how to:

- Prepare the patient, staff, and endosonographer
- Stage of esophageal, gastric and rectal cancers
- Differentiate the various types of solid and cystic pancreatic tumors and treatment with ablative therapies.
- Use EUS for evaluating patients with autoimmune and chronic pancreatitis
- Differentiate the various subepithelial mass lesions
- Demonstrate proper technique for EUS FNA and use of core biopsy needles
- And more
